

Embedding Equity, Diversity, Inclusion and Indigenization (EDII) into Teaching

Shaping and Enhancing Nursing
Curriculum and Course Design with EDII

Dr. Leela Viswanathan, RPP, FCIP

School of Nursing, Queen's University
Professional Development Workshop, June 23 & 24, 2021

Photo by Yousef Espanioly on Unsplash

Workshop Schedule

Refer to the agenda in your workshop resource kit

Day 1 - Workshop

- Part 1: Overview of EDII in Curriculum Development
- Part 2: Shaping and Enhancing Course Design with EDII: Making Small Transformations

Day 2 - Workshop

- Connecting Self-Education to Small Transformations in Teaching and Learning
- Moving Forward as a School

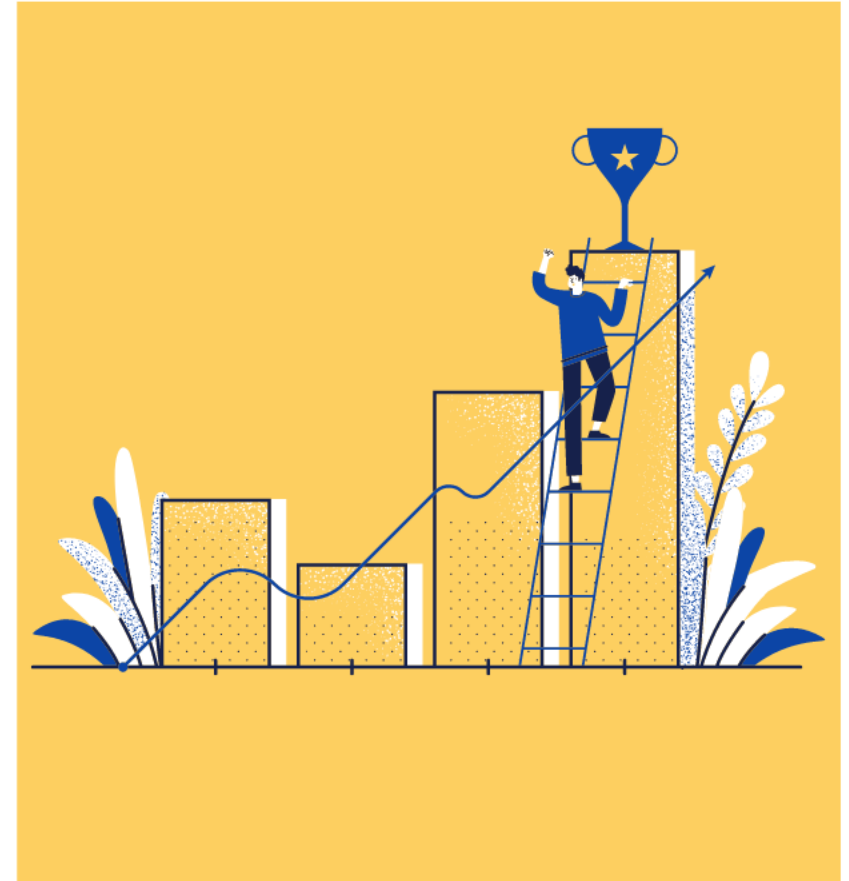

Day 1 and Day 2

- Applying EDII principles and concepts to your course syllabi
- Discussing & Strategizing in Breakout Groups
- Plenary Sharing

Learning outcomes

By the end of this 2-day workshop you will have:

- Learned basic guiding principles and terms in equity, diversity, inclusion, and Indigenization (EDI) and considered their application to curriculum, including to your own course.
- Gained exposure to elements of Universal Design for Learning (UDL).

Learning outcomes ... continued

- Gained exposure to ways of embedding EDII into course design and delivery.
- Gained more confidence to do your own learning about EDII, and to engage in conversations about embedding equity, diversity, and inclusion in your teaching practice, independently, and in collaboration with colleagues in the School of Nursing.

